

Act Your Age by Christopher Wortley.

By arrangement with Plays and Musicals

You may be forgiven for not knowing much about our next production “Act Your Age”. This is because it is a brilliant and new show, first published in April 2007. KAOS are very excited about the show and are now starting to prepare for the production in Kingsbury on 27th to 30th October 2010.

This is an uproariously funny show, centred on the Celebrity Sanctuary health spa which, as its name suggest, pampers to those famous people who are seeking a break from the public gaze and the opportunity to relax in privacy. Unfortunately, the Sanctuary is not doing too well, there are only two clients and the venture is on the brink of collapse.

An unexpected call from a publicity-shy A-list celebrity could be their salvation, but the staff have all left, so there is no-one around to pamper her.

Meanwhile, disaster has also struck a local retirement home. Workmen have managed to cut off all their services and they need somewhere to stay. So the local health spa seems the obvious choice.

The scene is then set for a hilarious evening of entertainment. Can the star-struck elderly residents save the day? Can the local press and paparazzi be kept at bay? Will the incognito celebrity give the sanctuary her endorsement? Will the workmen strike another blow? Only one way to find out – come along and see this fantastic, fast-moving show.
